Laniel's Downfall Scientists Ask

Molotov Expected To Assail Bidault

GENEVA, June 6 (A) - A highly placed Western diplomat predicted today Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov will try to blast the French Cabinet out of office with a semi-public statement on the Indochina situation Tuesday.

If successful, that could lead to a virtual surrender of Indochina to the Communist-led Vietminh rebels, and to a new and fatal delay in French action on the project for a Unified European Army incorporating West German man-

Thus, Molotov's speech would mark a major play for both Southeast Asia and Western Europe in Soviet conference strategy, according to this diplomat, who has been sitting in on Western planning here.

Blast At Bidault Expected

Molotov, he predicted, will blame French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault for the failure of the Geneva conference thus far to agree on terms for a settlement of the Korean and Indochina disputes-especially indochina. This, in turn, would be aimed at precipitating the collapse of Premier Joseph Laniel's coalition government in Paris and the ouster of Bidault from direction of French foreign policy.

President Is Told System Could Lead To National Suicide

WASHINGTON, June 6 (A)-Ten noted scientists told President Eisenhower today that the security system under which Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer was barred from the government's atomic secrets poses such a grave threat to scientific research it could lead to national

The scientists, members of the Federation of American Scientists and, including all officers of the organization, asked Eisenhower in an open letter to review the securty system.

Housing Top GOP "Talking Points" Tax Program Lacks Vote-Getting Appeal

WASHINGTON, June 6 (A)-Two Senate Republican leaders said today that President Eisenhower's expanded social security program and new housing legislation will be top subjects for Republican campaign oratory this fall. Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, chairman of the GOP Policy Committee and a key administration lieutenant, said he is "confident" Congress will give the White House substantially what Eisenhower has asked for in these two departments.

Sen. Bridges Agrees

Vietnamese Morale Is Given A Lift

It has been apparent for weeks that the Reds are stalling and delaying at Geneva while they deploy for the kill on the Red River delta in Indochina. If Hanoi, the inland bastion and the tip of the triangular defenses set up to defend this rich area, is submerged by the "human sea" type of attacks which overwhelmed the fortress of Dien Bien Phu, the colony, and probably Southeast Asia, will fall to the Commu-

There has been a lift to Vietnamese morale in the news that the French government is planning reinforcements on a large scale. Vietnamese troops are now to be trained by the American military mission headed by Lt. Gen. John W. O'Daniel. The French, and notably Gen. Henri Navarre, the ranking French military officer in the Far East, have resisted such aid in the past.

Heretofore Vietnamese troop training has been on a basis of small units, the largest being of battalion size. The American plan envisages setting up training on a divisional basis, in units of 20,000 to 30,000 troops. This system worked well in Korea. This system also makes for better officer training, and in officers the Vietnamese are woefully weak.

The question is whether this training is being undertaken in time. It was nearly 18 months before ROK units began to show results of the training American advisers prescribed. If the French can fly in enough armed might to bring about a standoff in the Red River delta, trained troops could make their impact felt by next winter.

Recent history in Greece and South Korea shows that this plan can work unless it is being applied too

The Oppenheimer Case

Naturally the Oppenheimer case has caused a stir on all sides because nobody knows what the testimony is. All that has been given to the public is the report of the three-man panel.

When a congressional committee holds a public learing, the public can, if it wants to, hear the evidence or read it in printed reports. If it is shown on television,

In the Oppenheimer case, the device has been used of secret sessions at which a great many witnesses appeared but only the panel members know what they said. Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer's defense was secret and therefore is not known to the public which reads a report that is altogether clear in its meaning but contains formalistic terminology which gives the impression of

Much, for instance, is made of the issue that while Dr. Oppenheimer's loyalty is unquestioned, his security rating is not restored to him. Without knowledge of the evidence, it is impossible to know why this distinction was made in this particular case. But It is not an unusual distinction.

A blabbermouth, a boaster, a name-dropper may be utterly loyal to his country. He may fight in her wars and may give his life for her honor. But such a man, despite his loyalty, would never make a good security risk. He could at a dinner party, for no other reason than that it is his nature, tell all.

Such persons need not be condemned; it is only necessary to keep them out of positions involving secrecy. Homosexuals are always poor security risks, but they need not be regarded as disloyal. They are poor security risks because they are subject to blackmail, just as the fellow who lives any kind of secret life is a security problem because the gals he plays with can blackmail him. Either a government puts all its secrets on the display counter or it screens its workers to avoid human foibles that might be exploited by the enemies of the

The distinction between a traitor, a subversive and a poor security risk needs to be clarified in the public mind. Not having heard or read the testimony, I do not have an opinion on this subject and will not blindly follow the panel or even the Atomic Energy Commission. I do not believe in secret hearings: I do not believe that such sessions are fair to a man, because even if he is completely exonerated, a cloud hangs over his reputation. When he is not exonerated, or when the normal distinction between loyalty and security is made, the poor devil, in the public's view, is condemned for more than the official condemnation

I would like to cite the case of Dr. Ralph Bunche as applicable. Here is a public official, a winner of a Nobel prize, who is brought down to a secret session with the full fanfare of publicity. No statement is made of the charges against him; so the impression gains currency that he must have been caught with the goods. No public hearings are held. The official interrogation is secret. His defense is secret. He is completely exonerated. In the minds of many people even the exoneration stimulates a doubt. Why did they call him at all if there was nothing to it?

This type of secret hearing is not an improvement on the open congressional committee hearing. In the Oppenheimer case as in the Bunche case, in one in which there was partial exoneration and in one in which there was complete exoneration, the individual suffers in his reputation by the very secrecy of the examination. Unless the testimony is available, the full meaning of the accusation or the defense is beclouded. Certainly the very nature of Anglo-Saxon justice requires an avoidance of star chamber pro-

In the case of Dr. Oppenheimer it may be said that as what is being discussed is the atom and hydrogen bombs, everything must be secret. Actually what is being considered is the reputation and life of a manand that must be judged by his peers if justice is to Criticism then should not be aimed at the panel which makes a correct distinction between loyalty and security, but against secret courts which can be a terrifying institution if permitted to develop in this country.

Cleaning Up Needed Before The Party

Judge In Robert Oppenheimer Case Once Got More Tolerant Decision

WASHINGTON-When Tom Morgan, head of the Sperry Corporation, sat in judgment on J. Robert Oppenheimer, builder of the atom bomb, he may not have remembered an occasion when Tom Morgan's government dealt more tolerantly

On September 1, 1942, ten months after Pearl Harbor plunged the United States into war, the Justice Department dropped a proposed prosecution of Tom Morgan's firm for exchanging priceless secrets with the Germans, the Japanese, and Fascist Italy. Instead, the Justice Department agreed to a consent decree.

When the three-man loyalty board sat on the case of Or. Oppenheimer, they found him loyal to his country, but decided that he was a poor security risk. They said he had not given away any secrets, but they feared he might.

In the case of Tom Morgan, a member of the three-man board, however, his company had already given vital information to countries which later became enemies of the United States

The first agreement with Japan was signed in 1931, the same year the Japanese war lords first invaded Manchuria, and a time when Henry L. Stimson, then secretary of state, warned the world of impending Japanese conquest and rallied the peace machinery of the League of Nations to try to stop the war lords.

The agreement with the Italians was written in 1937 and 1938 well after Mussolini had shown his wanton disregard for world peace by trampling helpless Ethiopia.

The agreement with Germany remained in effect during the years when Hitler was assembling his military might for inevitable war.

And it was the head of this com pany who, sitting in judgment on his follow man, ruled that Dr. Oppenheimer was a security risk. Cohn's News Leaks

Why Disintegration Threatens U. S. Foreign Service

There are two highly significant reasons why Edward R. Wailes has resigned as assistant secretary of state for personnel administration. First, Wailes is himself a highly competent foreign service officer. and he could not stomach handing over the whole professional foreign service to McCarthy's emissary in the State Department, W. Scott McLeod, Second, Wailes also could not stomach the way the celebrated "numbers game" is still being played in the State Department, under the McLeod aegis.

Wailes himself refuses comment on both points. But it can be reliably reported that these were the two main reasons for his decision

McLeod was appointed State Department security officer during the early McCarthy-appeasing era of the Eisenhower administration. He is generally regarded as the number one man in the "McCarthy underground" in the department. He himself has said that he is proud to call McCarthy a friend.

He has also publicly expressed contempt for the foreign service. According to the Des Moines Register and Tribune, he believes that it is full of cookie-pushers who are given to aping "the dress, accent, mannerisms and even thinking of foreigners." Secretary of State John Foster Dulles wanted to fire McLeod many months ago, when McLeod was "leaking" to his friend McCarthy during the period of the fight over the Bohlen nomi-

Rumblings Follow Action Dulles was restrained by congressional pressure on the White House. But on March 1 last, the McCarthy-appeasing era showed signs of coming to an end, and Dulles decided to clip McLeod's wings. He stripped McLeod of authority over State Department personnel, created the new assistant secretaryship, and put Wailes in the post.

In the bureaucratic jungle, this really cuts McCarthy's friend down to size. But immediately rumBy Joseph And Stewart Alsop blings were heard from McCarthy- independent of the mission chief, McLeod friends in the Senate, like Senators Styles Bridges and Karl Mundt. Both Bridges and Mundt are members of the powerful Appropriations Committee-Bridges is the chairman. The State Department's appropriations were up. And so, apparently, the last spasm of appeasement was indulged in.

On April 15, Under Secretary of State Bedell Smith handed to Mc-Leod control over the Foreign Service Inspection Corps. In so doing, he gave McLeod-and thus McCarthy - the head of every foreign service officer on a platter. The corps has the power to inspect all posts abroad, and to recommend.

Smith apparently thought that this was a bureaucratic matter. but Wailes, who himself served as chief inspector, immediately grasped its meaning. It meant that no foreign service officer would be safe unless he met the McLeod-promotions, down-gradings and dismissals of foreign service officers.

McCarthy standard of "true Americanism." It meant further that McCarthy, at only one removed, would henceforth have the power to complete the wreckage of the American foreign service.

Although he has not said so himself, this was unquestionably the most important reason why, in

This is quite literally as though the Army had become so despised that no self-respecting man would accept a second lieutenant's commission as a regular

Advice For Graduates

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass. - Labor leaders have forced employers to resort to unprecedented research. This research is teaching employers that they can get on without routine workers. This should be a warning to those now graduating from high school or college.

Push-Button Age

The development of electronics furnishes the basis of modern automatic machinery. A simple illustration is the "electric eye," which opens doors at the correct time without any help from you. Another illustration is the record-changer and turnover on your phonographs, including the automatic stopping of the machine. The most complicated are the new "missiles" which chase and catch an airplane without any human direction. This same electronic principle is being applied to operation of a factory by a dozen employes, in contrast to the 400 formerly required. As their chief duty will be to "press push-buttons," this can be done by women as well as by men. Labor does not realize the great changes ahead. Employers will always need human help; but not for many present-day jobs. They will want the intelligence and judgment of high school and college graduates.

Serious Blow To Some

Russian has been depending on her massed armies to overrun Europe the first day of her attack. As the free nations of Europe learn to use atomic weapons, wars will also go on a "push-button" basis, The great masses of Russians, Chinese and Moslems will be a nuisance to clutter up a battlefield. Premier Nehru recognizes this. It explains his great desire to remain neutral. Electronics and the atom will cause tremendous changes in both warfare and education.

It surely is wonderful to live here in the United States, which is leading in these new developments. I envy our young people who are to graduate this month. They will have so many more opportunities than we oldesters had. I wish the schools and colleges would wake up to these changes that are ahead. Better pension off the professor who can teach only the orthodox oldfashioned courses, instead of forcing young people to take these courses in order to get an A. B. degree.

Character And Brains

I forecast that the above changes mean young graduates will need good character more than ever before. Better training by homes, churches and colleges will be absolutely essential in this new electronic push-button age. Wise are the young people who now take evening courses which will enable them to move forward to better jobs when the dull ones are cast aside. I forecast that even the Linotype machine which sets the type for this column will be abandoned for a new automatic photo process.

The typical salesgirl of today could become obsolete. She could be replaced 70 per cent by "selfservice" counters, 20 per cent by push button vending machines, to which I have previously referred, and 10 per cent by highly-paid, intelligent salesmen and clerks who secure new customers. Such qualifications must be had by the June graduates who are to get good jobs. The field of advertising and selling is yet in its infancy, with marvelous possibilities for those who propertly train therefor.

I forecast that this change

(1) Manual and routine labor will gradually become absolete.

(2) To keep employed those unable to do anything else, their hours of work will constantly be decreased with the same take-home pay. This will boost the "Build-It-Yourself' industries!

(3 The pay increases will go to the serious and intelligent employes. There will be no limit to the salaries of those who have the needed character, brains, loyalty, and initiative.

(4) The great U.S. problem will not be to raise crops, or to build homes, or to manufacture merchandise, but to get people to buy. Hence, instead of subsidizing farmers, we will subsidize merchants and salesmen.

5) I am advising young men to become expert machinists, instead of lawyers; trained outside salesmen, instead of inside pencilpushers; and after graduation this June, to attend night school in

On September 1, 1942, ten months after Pearl Harbor plunged the United States into war, the Justice Department dropped a proposed prosecution of Tom Morgan's firm for exchanging priceless secrets with the Germans, the Japanese, and Fascist Italy. Instead, the Justice Department agreed to a con-

with Askania-Werke-Aktiengesellschaft of Germany; with Mitsui Bussan Kaisha in Japan; with La Filotecnica, Societa Anonima in Italy, and others to set up a world monopoly to control these highly critical instruments. The first agreement with Japan was signed in 1931, the same year the Japanese war lords first invaded Manchuria, and a time when Henry L. Stimson, then secretary of state, warned the world of impending Japanese conquest and ralied the peace machinery of the League of Nations to try to stop the war lords.

The agreement with the Italians was written in 1937 and 1938 well after Mussolini had shown his wanton disregard for world peace

by trampling helpless Ethiopia. The agreement with Germany remained in effect during the years when Hitler was assembling his military might for inevitable war.

And it was the head of this com pany who, sitting in judgment on his follow man, ruled that Dr. Oppenheimer was a security risk. Cohn's News Leaks

International News Service scored a real scoop in publishing a secret memo by Gen. Kirk Lawton, commander of the Signal Corps at Fort Monmouth, which supported Senator McCarthy. The manner in which the scoop was obtained, however, indicates how one Roy Cohn operates.

Somehow the debonair Roy was able to obtain the memo from the desk of Committee Counsel Ray Jenkins at 1:30 a. m. He then showed it to INS reporter Jack Lotto in the men's room of the Senate Office Building.

Lotto copied certain portions and filed his story at 3:30 a.m., several hours before the document was made public at the Senate hearing next day. Meanwhile the redoubtable Roy slipped the document back on Jenkins' desk.

Troops To Indo? Use of U.S. ground troops in Indochina is out. The Defense Department has submitted an estimate to the National Security Council that it would take 10 divisions of U. S. troops to regain the offensive militarily in Indochina . . . Simultaneously Secretary Wilson reports that neither the Philippines nor Thailand, both eager beavers for Asiatic defense, will send any troops whatever to Indochina unless the United States does the same. Wilson, who returned last week from a lengthly tour of the means the loss of the entire country . . Prime Minister Nehru has informed the American embassy the Communists will agree to a ceasefire in Indochina. Nehru says his personal representative at Geneva, Krishna Menon, has been assured of this by both the Russian and Chinese Communist delegations during secret talks. According to Nehru, Russia's Mototov said the Reds do not want all of Indochina but only the northern half which they now have captured. Molotov has warned, however, that the Reds absolutely must have the French stronghold of Hanoi and all the critical delta area. Nehru thinks this is reasonable and will favor giving it to the Communists for the sake of a compromise peace . . . Meanwhile he has privately offered to police an armistice in Indochina, if the two sides can reach an agreement. India is prepared to send most of its army to Indochina, Nehru said, to supervise the armistice. Labor And Church

The American Federation of Labor which owns property on swank Lafayette Square immediately opposite the White House, loaned its garden the other day to St. John's Episcopal Church, which adjoins it in the rear.

The church was holding a gala garden party and the AFL was delighted to cooperate.

The AFL Musicians Union, however, was a little miffed when the Air Force dance orchestra turned out to play for the party. A protest was immediately registered with the Air Force by local musicians.

"Using a military dance band," they said, "is like calling in the Army Engineers to build the church—especially when the dance band was playing on our property."

Washington Pipeline Twenty-seven senators had joined privately in a proposal to form a joint watchdog committee to supervise the super-secret Central Intelligence Agency. The idea had been to forestall a reckless investigation of the CIA by Senator Mc-Carthy, such as he demanded last week. However, Senator Jenner of Indiana, whose committee must approve the proposal, blocked it. It isn't supposed to be known, but he acted at the request of-Senator McCarthy . . . # Why Disintegration Threatens U. S. Foreign Service

There are two highly significant reasons why Edward R. Wailes has resigned as assistant secretary of state for personnel administration. First, Wailes is himself a highly competent foreign service officer, and he could not stomach handing over the whole professional foreign service to McCarthy's emissary in the State Department, W. Scott McLeod, Second, Wailes also could not stomach the way the celebrated "numbers game" is still being played in the State Department, under the McLeod aegis.

McLeod was appointed State Department security officer during the early McCarthy-appeasing era the Eisenhower administration He is generally regarded as the number one man in the "McCarthy underground" in the department. He himself has said that he is proud to call McCarthy a friend. He has also publicly expressed contempt for the foreign service. According to the Des Moines Register and Tribune, he believes that it is full of cookie-pushers who are given to aping "the dress, accent, mannerisms and even thinking of foreigners." Secretary of State John Foster Dulles wanted to fire McLeod many months ago, when McLeod was "leaking" to his friend McCarthy during the period of the fight over the Bohlen nomi-

Dulles was restrained by congressional pressure on the White House. But on March 1 last, the McCarthy-appeasing era showed signs of coming to an end, and Dulles decided to clip McLeod's wings. The State Depart- chief inspector, immediately grasped its meaning. It meant that no foreign service officer would be safe unless he met the McLeod-McCarthy standard of "true Americanism." It meant further that McCarthy, at only one removed, would henceforth have the power to complete the wreckage of the American foreign service mid-April, Wailes submitted his resignation to Dulles (who persuaded him to stay on until last week). The decision to resign was also unquestionably made easier by the way the McLeod-sponsored "security clean-up" is being handled in the State Department. Becomes Fair Game

A tremendous "clean-up of security risks" is now going on in the department, with flatfeet falling all over each other in the corridors. The idea is to get the State Department "cleaned up once and for all" by June 30. Thereafter, it is expected, an impressive total of "security firings" will be announced with appropriate fanfare. According to the peculiar rules of this sport, anyone who transfers to another agency or leaves the department for whatever reason, is risk" without his knowledge-and thus the proud total is swelled. Especially since he was ostensibly responsible for personnel, this kind of fakery at the expense of innocent government employes was apparently also a bit too much for the Wailes stomach. The story of the Wailes resignation goes far towards explaining why the professional American diplomatic corps is threatened with total disintegration. It is incredible but true that not a single Class Six foreign service offficer has been recruited for more than two years. This is quite literally as though the Army had become so despised that no self-respecting man would accept a second lieutenant's commission as a regular

Perhaps McCarthy and his friends will eventually achieve even this unique contribution to American security. If so, it will hardly be more serious than the wrecking of the foreign service. But what is really surprising about this whole story is the curious fact that McCarthyism still seems to flourish luxuriantly within the administration, even while the administration and the senator are locked in a death struggle.

Advice For Graduates

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK. Mass. - Labor ing young people to take these resort to unprecedented research. This research is teaching employers that they can get on without routine workers. This should be a warning to those now graduating from high school or college.

Push-Button Age

The development of electronics furnishes the basis of modern automatic machinery. A simple illustration is the "electric eye," which opens doors at the correct time without any help from you. Another illustration is the record-changer and turnover on your phonographs, including the automatic stopping of the machine. The most complicated are the new "missiles" which chase and catch an airplane without any human direction.

This same electronic principle is being applied to operation of a factory by a dozen employes, in contrast to the 400 formerly required. As their chief duty will be to "press push-buttons," this can be done by women as well as by men. Labor does not realize the great changes ahead. Employers will always need human help; but not for many present-day jobs. They will want the intelligence and judgment of high school and college graduates.

Serious Blow To Some

Russian has been depending on her massed armies to overrun Europe the first day of her attack. As the free nations of Europe learn to use atomic weapons, wars will also go on a "push-button" basis. The great masses of Russians, Chinese and Moslems will be a nuisance to clutter up a battlefield. Premier Nehru recognizes this. It explains his great desire to remain neutral. Electronics and the atom will cause tremendous changes in both warfare and education.

in the United States, which is leading in these new developments. I envy our young people who are to graduate this month. They will have so many more opportunities than we oldesters had. I wish the schools and colleges would wake up to these changes that are ahead. Better pension off the professor who can teach only the orthodox oldfashioned courses, instead of forc-leaders have forced employers to courses in order to get an A. B. degree.

Character And Brains I forecast that the above changes mean young graduates will need good character more than ever before. Better training by homes, churches and colleges will be absolutely essential in this new electronic push-button age. Wise are the young people who now take evening courses which will enable them to move forward to better jobs when the dull ones are cast aside. I forecast that even the Linotype machine which sets the type for this column will be abandoned for a new automatic photo process.

The typical salesgirl of today could become obsolete. She could be replaced 70 per cent by "selfservice" counters, 20 per cent by push button vending machines, to which I have previously referred, and 10 per cent by highly-paid, intelligent salesmen and clerks who secure new customers. Such qualifications must be had by the June graduates who are to get good jobs. The field of advertising and selling is yet in its infancy, with marvelous possibilities for those who propertly train therefor. I forecast that this change

(1) Manual and routine labor will gradually become absolete. (2) To keep employed those unable to do anything else, their hours of work will constantly be decreased with the same take-home pay. This will boost the "Build-It-Yourself" industries!

(3 The pay increases will go to the serious and intelligent employes. There will be no limit to the salaries of those who have the needed character, brains, loyalty, and initiative.

(4) The great U. S. problem will not be to raise crops, or to build It surely is wonderful to live here homes, or to manufacture merchandise, but to get people to buy. Hence, instead of subsidizing farmers, we will subsidize merchants and salesmen.

It is still harder to detect the meaning, if any, of a card identifiable as his lowest. when you know he has higher ones which could be spared. In the first case, is he asking for a repeat of the suit or a shift to the higher-ranking of the other side suits? In the latter is he merely indicating a desire that you not repeat the first suit or is he urging you to switch to the lower-ranking side suit? Some-

Nothing very exciting could happen in that contract, in a rubber game, but what East did during the defense was symptomatic of the kind of bridge he plays AAJ98 which will keep him forever from being a topliner unless he mends his ways.

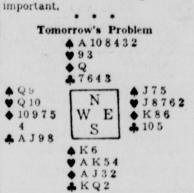

After the diamond K lead brought the 10 from West, East repeated the suit to the J and then made the fancy play of ruffing his partner's A, so that he could return a club. That presented an extra trick to North, I the defenders foil him?

by Barclay as the clubs broke nicely, after hearts were parked on the club Q and 10, limiting the defenders to just one more trick, with the heart A, as North scored an overtrick. "Didn't you notice my ten on the first trick?" asked West. "Certainly," said East. "So I acted on the encouraging card and repeated the suit."

"You didn't require any encouraging card from me," per-sisted West. "When your king held the trick, you could easily tell what I held. I didn't have to use a high card to get a diamond repeat. So my ten must have been a suit-preference signal, asking for the higher-ranking hearts as against the lower clubs. If you had noted that and had switched to a heart honor, either immediately or after your showy play of trumping my ace, we would have had one more trick."

"How important would that trick be in a rubber game?" asked East then, showing how far he was from a perfectionist. To the true star nothing is unimportant.

on a trick that you win, even if you are sure he has one or more lower cards. It is still harder to detect the meaning, if any, of a card identifiable as his lowest, when you know he has higher ones which could be spared. In the first case, is he asking for a repeat of the suit or a shift to the higher-ranking of the other side suits? In the latter is he merely indicating a desire that you not repeat the first suit or is he urging you to switch to the lower-ranking side suit? Some-

I didn't have to use a high card to get a diamond repeat. So my ten must have been a suit-preference signal, asking for the higher-ranking hearts as against the lower clubs. If you had noted that and had switched to a heart honor, either immediately or after your showy play of trumping my ace, we would have had one more trick.'

"How important would that trick be in a rubber game?" asked East then, showing how far he was from a perfectionist. To the true star nothing is un-

In Memoriam In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Slavko Nickolas Krnaya, who passed away 13 years ago, June 7, 1941.

When evening shades are falling,
And we are sitting all alone,
In our hearts there comes a longing,
If you only could come home.
Oft and oft our thoughts do wander,
To your grave so far away,
Where we laid you dearest Slavko,
Thirteen years ago today.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Slavko Nickolas Krnaya, who passed away 13 years ago, June 7, 1941.
When evening shades are falling,
And we are sitting all alone.
In our hearts there comes a longing,
If you only could come home.
Oft and oft our thoughts do wander,
To your grave so far away.

To your grave so far away.

To your grave so far away, Where we laid you dearest Slavko, Thirteen years ago today. Sadly missed by his Father, Mother, Brother & Sister.

Ft. Cumberland Unit No. 13 American Legion Auxiliary will sponsor five girls to Girls' State again this year at the State House, Annapolis, from June 21 to 26. The girls will be housed at Carvel Hall Girls State provides a citizenship training for girls of high school age and develops a better understanding of the construction, the purpose and operation of government.

Eligibility is limited to any gir! who has completed her third year of senior high school. Each girl is expected to return home for the completion of her high school course and furnish leadership in her school and community. Mrs. Harry Vogel, Girl State chairman for the local Unit, announced final approval has been made and the following girls have been selected by their respective schools to attend Girls State: Mary Jo Simpson-Ursuline; Mary Rita Coniff-Girls Central; Catherine Mary Franze-St. Mary's; Rita Green-Fort Hill; and Nancy Jones-Alle-

Mrs. Vogel will meet with the girls this week to explain the program and make final plans for their departure.

The Weather

Cumberland had a second day of autumn yesterday, with mild, sunny weather that never let the official thermometer get above 75 degrees. Some 1,200 persons went to Constitution Park yesterday afternoon in spite of the suddenly cooler weather, and others went to the Cumberland Concert Band's second public concert last night in the Park's openair amphitheatre. The low was a chilly 47, and relative humidity at 6 p. m. was 33 per cent. Today may be a bit more June-like. The Weather Bureau predicts fair skies and a high of about 80 degrees.

Three Methodist Churches In City Get New Pastors

Trinity, Park Place, Davis Are Affected

Changes in three pastorates in Cumberland and in three others in the Tri-State area were announced yesterday in the closing session of the four-day annual meeting of the Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Church.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam announced the new appointments among 62 in the Baltimore Conference, after he had ordained 37 new ministers yesterday at the session in Baltimore.

Trinity, Davis Memorial, and Park Place churches here will get new pastors, partly as the result of the retirement of Rev. George H. Bennett, who has served the past seven years at First Church in Brunswick.

Other changes involve churches in the Bedford, Pa., circuit, and at Barton and Hancock.

Transfers Announced

Rev. Clarence Leonard Beard, who has been pastor of Trinity Church here for the past six years will go to First Church, Brunswick, to replace Rev. Bennett.

Rev. Beard in turn will be replaced by Rev. Lewis P. Chastain, a former pastor of Davis Memorial Church here and pastor Pentecost: The Founding for three years at Union Bridge.

Father Young Talks At Communion Event

Courage, as a necessary quality for a man to possess in order to Columbus, was the theme of a talk given yesterday morning by Rev. Francis DeSales Young, O. F. M., Cap., principal speaker at the annual Communion Breakfast of Cumberland Council, K. of C. In his talk before approximately 250 knights, Father Young recalled the courage displayed by Christopher Columbus when he embarked from Spain on his journey across

Father Young went on to explain that a man requires courage to stand up for his religion even in small everyday occurrences, and that being a good Catholic and knight work hand in hand. The breakfast was held at SS lowing 8:15 p.m. Mass, celebrated Crowley, O.F.M. Cap.

Invocation and benediction were given by Father Marius J. Elsener. O.F.M. Cap., pastor of the church and chaplain of the council.

Local Student Receives Degree From Duquesne

Robert Francis Nierman, 14 South Chase Street, received a bachelor of science degree in pharmacy in commencement exercises yesterday afternoon at Duquesne University.

John T. Cullinan, judge of the Connecticut Superior Court, addressed the 486 graduates, and degrees were conferred by Rev. Vernon F. Gallagher, C. S. Sp., president of the University.

The Weather Cumberland had a second day of autumn yesterday, with mild, sunny weather that never let the official thermometer get above 75 degrees. Some 1,200 persons went to Constitution Park yesterday afternoon in spite of the suddenly cooler weather, and others went to the Cumberland Concert Band's second public concert last night in the Park's openair amphitheatre. The low was a chilly 47, and relative humidity at 6 p. m. was 33 per cent. Today may be a bit more June-like. The Weather Bureau predicts fair skies and a high of about 80 degrees.

Girls Central Award Winners

Among students who won awards for outstanding scholastic work in commencement exercises yesterday at Catholic Girls Central High School were (left to right) Dorothea Wilson, who won the chemistry and French achievement awards; Margaret Blake, who took awards for the highest four-year general average; highest average in English, and for winning an essay contest; Patricia Miller, the "scholarship and application" award, and Patricia Andrews, who won the prize for general excellence during four years of high school. The school presented diplomas to 20 girls in the annual exercises in St. Patrick's Church.
